

Today in port of Kotor sailed Ocean Majesty and Nieuw Amsterdam.

The OCEAN MAJESTY has been totally rebuilt to extremely high standards and on completion of works she was considered a “New ship” for all intents and purposes. The vessel’s complete and total reconstruction was carried out in Greece from 1991 to the spring of 1994. Since then, numerous additional renovation works have taken place, the last major one in 2008 when the vessel’s cabins and public rooms were practically totally refurbished. Every year, during the winter period, the vessel is always upgraded as necessary, thus always being kept in tip top condition.
